

Make Your Sprayskirt Release Easy

The grab loop on a spray skirt is usually just a loop of webbing. Not necessarily easy to hold with cold wet hands though you can make it easier if you can get your hand into the loop. This usually takes two hands as it tends, by the way it is made, to lie flat.

Here is a simple way to fix the problem. Attach a practice golf ball to the end of the loop.

Items to be used, note only one ball is needed.

Enlarge two holes and feed the loop through the ball

Loop the webbing over to make a larkshead knot.

To stop the loop slipping off a retaining string will be needed.

One further step to make things easier when capsized would be to insert a small piece of lead into the ball to make it hang down, off the deck.

Sandy Ferguson